

SOUTH DAKOTA HIGHWAY USERS CONFERENCE

Since December of 1970, a group of South Dakotans has made it their mission to “encourage the development and maintenance of a safe and efficient highway system in South Dakota, to promote sound public policies of highway use, funding, development, safety, taxation and administration, and to serve as a forum for the discussion of policies concerning highway use and development.”

And 38 years later, this group, known as the South Dakota Highway Users Conference, still serves as the advocate for good roads in this state. Through testimony during the legislative session to providing information to interim study committees to general highway needs and funding education, the South Dakota Highway Users Conference is the “go to” group for decision makers.

The South Dakota Highway Users Conference boasts a remarkable slate of members: AAA of South Dakota; American Petroleum Institute; Associated General Contractors of South Dakota, Inc.; Black Hills, Badlands & Lakes Association; SD Agri-Business Association; SD Association of Cooperatives; SD Association of Independent Insurance Agents; SD Automobile Dealers Association/SD Trucking Association; SD Chamber of Commerce & Industry; SD Electric Utility Companies; SD Farm Bureau Federation; SD Petroleum & Propane Marketers Association/SD Association of Convenience Stores; SD Retailers Association; SD Telecommunications Association; Absolutely Aberdeen; SD Chapter of the American Concrete Pavement Association; Dakota Asphalt Paving Association; SD Association of County Commissioners; SD Municipal league; North Central Cement Council, and SD Independent Automobile Dealers Association.

But that impressive list is incomplete without your membership. On behalf of the South Dakota Highway Users Conference, I invite you to become a member of the one group recognized as standing up for good infrastructure in South Dakota. Enclosed is a membership application. Please join today and lend your expertise to the quest for good roads.
