

Substance Abuse Prevention 2016 Interim Study

TITLE OF STUDY

The study of substance abuse prevention at the earliest stages and options available to South Dakota communities.

SCOPE OF STUDY

Explore the problem of substance abuse, specifically meth and prescription drug use, and possible community prevention or intervention for pre-teens, teens, and young adults.

Questions to include:

- At what age are children first exposed to meth?
- What factors frequently lead to early exposure?
- What have been the most effective prevention and intervention methods?
- How can the community be a part of the solution?
